FIVE PICKED TO CONDUCT PEACE NEGOTIATIONS

Appointments Made in Case of Possible Conference With the British Government

IRISH COURIERS RETURNING FROM MEETING WITH PREMIER

Dublin Fears that Conversations Will be Interrupted

DUBLIN.—Appointment of plenipotentiaries to the proposed conference at Inverness with British representatives to discuss settlement of the Irish question was approved by the dail eireann at its session here today. The dail unanimously approved the reply to the recent proposals of Mr. Lloyd George, the British prime minister, regarding Irish peace negotiations.

The dail's official bulletin announcing approval of the five plenipotentiaries says this was done "in view of a possible conference with representatives of the British government."

The dail plenipotentiaries, it was explained, were not appointed to go to Inverness in response to the premier's invitation, but have been chosen to carry on possible negotiations which may or may not follow the receipt by Lloyd George of the dail's reply.

Appointments Approved
The appointments approved today: Arthur Griffith, founder of the Sinn Fein and foreign minister in the dail cabinet, chairman.

Michael Collins, finance minister.

Robert C. Barton, who has been one of the leading figures in the preliminary negotiations.

Eamon J. Duggan, Sinn Fein member of parliament and a leading figure in the arrangement of the Irish truce.

George Gavin Duffy, who has acted as representative of the Sinn Fein abroad.

Dail in Secret Session
DUBLIN.—By The Associated Press.—Members of the Irish republican parliament gathered here in response to a call from Eamon De Valera were prepared to begin secret sessions Wednesday to consider the situation that has arisen in the course of the exchanges between the Irish republican leaders and the British government. Mr. De Valera was expected to appear before parliament Wednesday morning and lay before it the stipulation of Premier Lloyd George that demands for absolute separation from Great Britain be abandoned if negotiations are to continue.

Couriers Returning
The couriers who on Monday went to Scotland to hear Mr. De Valera's inquiries regarding the terms laid down in the premier's latest note to the republican leader, were expected to arrive here during the day. They were believed to have received from Lloyd George explanations of certain points of his proposals and these were to be submitted to the parliament so that it might take them into consideration in reaching a decision whether to continue or interrupt the conversations that have been going on between Dublin and London.

In some quarters however, the fear was expressed that a serious hitch had occurred in the negotiations. The theory in these quarters was that the couriers took a verbal reply to Mr. Lloyd George to sound out the situation before a formal decision was reached, that the premier indicated unwillingness to proceed on the line suggested, and that this left the dail cabinet an opportunity to seek a fresh formula.

Lloyd George Dissatisfied
LONDON.—By The Associated Press.—"Although no actual hitch has occurred in the Irish negotiations," says the Evening Standard Wednesday, "the premier was so dissatisfied with Eamon De Valera's reply that he asked the couriers sent to Scotland to return immediately to Dublin to convey to Mr. De Valera the premier's views on the points raised."

"In view of the indefinite character of the Sinn Fein proposals," continues the newspaper, "the couriers were in effect told to go home and produce something better. Mr. De Valera's note was so full of reservations as to precipitate all sorts of difficulties which were not cleared up in advance of the full conference."

"These reservations, also, did not accept Mr. Lloyd George's first condition—that the basis of the whole conference must be acceptance of Ireland's inclusion within the empire."

"It is believed the points at issue will be cleared up in sufficient time for the conference to open next Tuesday," continues the newspaper.

"The premier is acting within the powers conferred upon him personally to conduct the interim negotiations in order that nothing might interfere with the holding of the conference Tuesday."

UNEMPLOYMENT SITUATION BETTER NOW THAN IN 1914 SAYS SECRETARY OF LABOR

Davis Takes Optimistic View of Conditions; Many Unemployed Have No One Dependent Upon Them He Declares in Statement

WASHINGTON.—Those who are disturbed over the 5,735,000 unemployed of Wednesday, overlook that in 1914 there were 7,906,000 out of work, a larger percentage of whom were men and actual bread winners than in the present unemployed, Secretary Davis said Wednesday in statement.

Declaring the country has just passed through a period when every effort was made to induce women and others who had not worked for wages or salaries before, to "work and save starving Europe," Mr. Davis said present unemployment figures include great numbers of persons upon whose earnings no one actually is dependent.

"While we have our unemployed, let us not forget the 12,000,000 who are still at work," the statement said. "A further encouraging fact is that $500,000,000 is now available about the country in the form of bonds already issued or appropriated by the state, county and municipal governments for public works. Undoubtedly this will be organized intelligently."

Positive signs of business recovery have been furnished by the commissioner of labor statistics, Secretary Davis declared, adding: "Some of these signs have an aspect of their own. I put them out for others to interpret as they please. But one must have his head very much in the air these days, not to notice the growing prevalence of silk hosiery and the use of silks in general."

"A stir was caused all over the country," the statement said, "when Senator McCormick called for the actual figures on current unemployment and these figures as supplied by the bureau of labor were found to be 5,735,000. These figures stand as the best estimate available, but they need to be read in relation to the situation of seven years ago as well as in the light of the facts of today."

Ratio is Less
"Take this fact for instance: In 1920 the number of persons in the United States employed as wage earners or working for some one other than themselves, reached the total of 18 or 20 millions. This was outside of agricultural occupations. The ratio of unemployed to the total of workers today is thus less than the ratio of unemployed to the total of workers in 1914 and by a wide margin."

"Nothing is to be gained by sticking one's head in the sand and ignoring the gravity of the present unemployment situation. Neither do we profit by distorting the facts. Here is one salient fact to be kept in mind: Probably not more than a third of these 5,735,000 are the principal bread winners of the family."

Problem is World-Wide
"Taking all the families of the United States, there are in the average over two bread winners to every family. If one of these bread winners is unemployed it seriously cripples but it does not necessarily impoverish the family. Mind you, I am not saying that there is not at this time considerable actual suffering among our people nor that this winter may not bring more suffering unless something intelligent and effective is done to relieve the situation. I am simply calling attention to the fact that while unemployment today is a grave matter, there are nevertheless about ten or twelve millions of our people at work. And comparatively few families have had the only bread winners put out of a job."

"Our problem here at home is all the harder to solve because it is not by any manner of means our problem alone. Unemployment is world-wide."

Industry Shows Recovery
"Cotton and woolen goods already show signs of recovery and there is scarcely a plant in the country turning out silk hosiery that is not working full or overtime. Silk fabrics are on the move. These things speak for themselves and may be speaking the same language as the figures showing that more garages than houses have been built in recent months. Here is another fact with its own significance. Shoe factories seem to be working for the most part on fancy high-priced women's shoes. This may be accounted for by the further fact that men now out of the hardy forms of employment are not shoe buyers. The demand for these will come when the railroads and the factories are started on a more going scale, when the more staple grades of shoes for men will come into larger demand. That cannot be long delayed. The situation begins to brighten."

Wilder Claims Alibi
Wilder, however, maintains his innocence and asserts he can establish an alibi. He told the authorities that he worked in a shoe factory the entire day the murders were committed and can account for his whereabouts that evening.

Parks, after confessing all the gruesome details of the double murder, refused to sign his confession. For three hours he sat across a table from Church, who solidly signed page after page of his forty sheet recital.

"Watcher waitin' for?" finally demanded Church, sharply. "You know it's true. If you say it isn't, you're a liar."

Parks hastily seized a pen and began signing his statement.

Confessions Agree
The final confessions of Church and Parks, made Tuesday, agree in all essential details of the two murders. According to their statements, Church, Parks and Wilder planned the theft of an automobile which Daugherty and Ausmus were attempting to sell there. They planned to rob the automobile agents, sell the car and divide the profits.

Daugherty and Ausmus were led to Church's flat by the latter. In the basement Wilder and Parks waited and it was here that Daugherty was handcuffed, choked and his throat cut. A similar fate was meted out to Ausmus a few minutes later. Ausmus' body was then buried in the garage and that of Daugherty thrown in the Des Plaines river.

Haddad Is Removed FROM WAUPUN PRISON TO STATE HOSPITAL
Rooming House Keeper Convicted of Running Resort is Declared Insane by Doctors

HAD NEARLY COMPLETED HIS SENTENCE OF YEAR IN PRISON

Had Hallucination that Guards Were Going to Kill Him

MASSAID HADDAD, convicted on the charge of operating a house of ill repute in his morning house in North Second street and sentenced to a year in state's prison, now is in the central hospital for insane at Waupun.

Haddad, who was sent to Waupun prison last spring, and who had served about seven months of his sentence, was examined by a board of physicians a week ago, was found insane and was ordered removed from the prison to the central hospital, which also is located in Waupun.

According to information received by authorities here, Haddad was possessed of a fear that he was going to be killed by the prison guards. The hallucination preyed on his mind so that the prison warden ordered him examined with the result that he was committed to the hospital. After his commitment to the asylum, Haddad's friends in La Crosse sought to have him released from the hospital and brought back home, saying that if he were removed from the prison surroundings his mind would recover its equilibrium. This plan, however, was vetoed by the prison authorities.

He emerged below the prison and disappeared in the darkness.

Ho, for the City Series!

SO the city series is on! Good news, brother fans. One feels like moving a vote of thanks to the respective clubs for having settled their differences and arranged to give the baseball enthusiasts the treat they have been looking forward to all season. But perhaps better than a vote of thanks will be a unanimous determination not to miss the games. The way to show appreciation of sports and players is to get out and root, and since we submit that the Nelsons and the La Crosse clubs have given the fans a square deal we add that the least the fans can do is to pack the stand and the side-lines. However, it is probably a waste of editorial space to urge attendance at the series. The folks will be there, without doubt, and the rivalry between supporters of the two clubs no less than the rivalry of the players themselves will sufficiently foment the rooting. Indeed, we are moved by the certainty of record crowds at Copeland Park to suggest that special effort by the police department will be necessary. Even with ordinary crowds the foul lines and outfield at the park have been infringed upon by the crowds, so much so that very frequently players have been prevented from reaching balls that they could have bagged easily. Upon some such point a game may turn, and it is not fair to the players to risk the chance of such an incident occurring during the coming series. The whole field for the occasion should be roped off with ample room inside the lines, and the ropes well guarded. For there are going to be real crowds at these games, we make no doubt.

National Policemen

SAMUEL GOMPERS, president of the American Federation of Labor, plans a great national labor demonstration in favor of disarmament on the eve of the disarmament conference November 11. It is a good plan, and through it hundreds of thousands of Americans not affiliated with the federation will be permitted to give expression to their sentiment for less guns, less taxes, and as little war as possible. There was the selective draft in the world war. It took men upon age and condition, irrespective of class or occupation. It was as close to justice as was possible. But labor bore the brunt because labor represents the mass and gave most men, and because a working man sacrifices more than he whose fortune is secure and whose day's work is not his all. And so labor, without surrender of loyalty and whole-hearted Americanism, is opposed to war and in favor of substantial disarmament.

In this connection, in fixing its position, labor will do well to give thought to what is substantial disarmament. It must consider the necessary police power for home emergencies. We have seen, and are even now seeing, labor welcome the intervention of federal troops in industrial quarrels. In the steel strike some two years ago order with justice was restored when General Wood brought United States troops into the field. The strikers hailed them with delight. It was so in the Mingo troubles in West Virginia. It will be so at Elizabethtown, Ill. The reason is that commonly state constabulary and sheriff's posses, like mine guards, are under the influence of the employers who dominate the locality. Federal troops come without hostility, and usually report fairly to the president and congress. These things have happened, and will happen again. They go to show that a reasonable army for policing the nation makes for justice and security for all good citizens. Workmen require them sometimes, and other citizens have the same right to their protection and may have the same need of them.

Where We Lose Out

ATTORNEYS TRAPP AND FOX announce twenty per cent cuts in cash rentals of 210,000 acres of land, mostly farms, in Illinois, Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska. This land is owned by the Scully family of England, the original Scully staking it out before the wild pigeon became extinct, and boosting taxes regularly till the tenants rebelled.

Single taxers will foam at the mouth. For good reason, too. Why should Americans pay rent, on American land, to an English family that probably never has seen the property? But what the Scullys did with 210,000 acres, others have done with coal lands, forests, iron ore deposits and so on until Joe Leiter with his wheat corner was a piker.

You and I came on the scene a few generations too late. But the inheritance tax and a possible birth of national intelligence will even things up for our great-grandchildren.

Cash

MONEY in circulation September 1 was $52.41 for every American, says the treasury department. That's fifty-nine cents less than a month before, which is good news. For prices won't go down, can't be kept down, unless the amount of money in circulation is reduced. The "yes-but" man answers: "Inflated currency means high prices, but it makes the war debt easier to pay off." Still, not much will be done in our lifetime to pay off the war debt, though hope springs eternal and schemes are many.

Brains

MEN worth salaries of $10,000 to $100,000 a year are going to be in bigger demand in coming years than during the war. For business problems are knottier. The knottier they are, the more pay for the man that can untangle them. Brains that can show corporations how to make profits in an almost profitless market will bring the salaries. Like the safe expert who sent in this bill, "To opening safe, $10. To knowing how, $390."

George

A CARLOAD of oats, 1804 bushels, was shipped by George Polgeier, elevator owner at Eldora, Iowa. Having bitten on the Canadian grain-pooling plan, George finds that his oats sold for $511.88, less $239.23 freight. He got $69.71 for his oats. The other $202.91 went as commission to the marketers. Co-operative agents had better steer clear of George. He's been reconverted to the old-time competitive system.

Cold

ICE CREAM, thousands of gallons of it, is being shipped from America to China. Refrigeration made that possible within the last fifty years. That would interest Teller, inventor of cold storage. The world rewarded him for his invention by letting him die in poverty. No money in inventing. Let George do it. If you want to get rich, be the fellow that markets the invention.

Right

MERLE HAY was one of the first three Americans killed in the war. He died before the war risk act became operative, so his parents got no insurance. The American Legion of Iowa, Hay's home state, has petitioned for the parents' relief—also all similar cases. Common decency—Americanism—should impel congress to pay this debt of honor, by amending the war risk act as soon as it reconvenes.

La Crosse is today mourning the culmination of the greatest tragedy of the new century, the death of President McKinley which occurred at 2:15 a. m. today as the result of bullet wounds inflicted by Leon Czolgosz September 6. Flags on all the city, government and other public buildings are flying at half staff. Memorial services will be held at the Opera House tonight.
Miss Freda Michel and Edna Coren left last night for Galesburg, Ill., to attend St. Mary's school for girls.

A. J. Page left Sunday for Elrod, South Dakota, where he contemplates the purchase of a store and stage line.

Those property owners who have put in sidewalks in front of their homes on Wood street are now trying to induce the city to compel the rest of the property owners to build sidewalks. They say that the lack of a continuous sidewalk on the street is not only inconvenient but detracts from the value of their property.

The firemen at Central fire station had a banquet last night after they came from the fire at Eagle brewery.

The "Battle House" kept by Frank Gessner is being raised and another story added.
The asphalt driveway being built in Court House park will be finished Thursday. The work is in the hands of George Doyle.

HELLO, FRECKLES!

BY H. L. RAYBOLD

That was what it began with—the long love affair between Perry Hampton and Sally Preston which later became so woefully tangled with money matters and isolation in the wilderness and the Rev. Horace Crane.

But back to the day of first things. Perry Hampton, by some queer chance, had been dumped without ceremony into the Misses Little's Select Kindergarten and, standing a small, sly, brown-headed stranger, on the outskirts of a single class, had been expected to him a little educational back. "Hello, Freckles," the dearest voice he had ever heard addressed him. And straightaway in love fell Master Perry with Miss Sarah V. Preston who was as adorable at five as she was later at nineteen.

And yet it was when Sally was eleven that Perry had her a cold goodbye. Not that he meant it coldly. No, indeed! Only the barrier between them—it was Perry who thought of it that way—stood in the man as insurmountable, at least until he had wrestled a comfortable livelihood for two from his civil engineering. For Sarah was scheduled to inherit a considerable fortune from an old and crabbed aunt who lived in seclusion up in the country and seemed fable to a quick disbeliever at any moment. And a stubborn streak of Don Quixotism in Perry kept his mouth closed on the declarations of love which surged within him until he could back them with offerings more substantial.

Their farewell conversation was tragically restrained, its chief importance and poignancy—lying in what was left unsaid.

"Yes, Sally, I'm off tomorrow to the Rockies."

"So soon?" Sally bit an under lip which might otherwise have quivered.

"The sooner the better," returned Perry, almost savagely. "It's my first big job—laurels and an undimmed river. I've got to make good."

"I—I wish you luck, Perry!" Midway she checked the impulse to utter words which would have brought Perry's arms about her in spite of himself.

"When I come back," began Perry, "when I come back—I'll—oh, let me know."

"Why, of course," said Sally in surprise, "and we'll be writing back and forth all the time."

So it was with the promise of frequent letters ringing in his ears that Perry finally kicked himself away, his heart leaped at the thought of possible mail.

But, after all, what he had hoped would be letters proved only a bundle of newspapers, many days old. Suddenly, at an inopportune time, his universe spun dizzily around.

"Married—on the 30th, Miss Sarah V. Preston to the Rev. Horace Crane." It couldn't be! Merced heavens—his Sally whom he had loved since childhood! And yet, there it was, in cold black and white for every one to read. Forcing the unwelcome conviction of its truth upon him, flashed across his mind that here lay the reason for her failure to write. Enraged to another man, why should she care whether or not her letters had been the one brightness of his laborious days? The Rev. Horace Crane! Who was he? Wait—ah, no, surely that could not be the man. And yet—Perry called to mind a zany, elderly person who preached in the church to which he had frequently accompanied Sally. But the thought of his freckled, English-sweet, heart married to that man was bitter to Perry.

Little—little—little! The telephone bell attached to the instrument only just installed with great difficulty jangled in the room behind him. So recent had its acquisition been that Perry had not yet become accustomed to his reconnection with the outside world.

"Hello—hello—hello!" "Hello, Freckles!" Perry had a sensation of faintness. "Who—who is this?" he managed to say. "Knowing, of course, it was the one person he knew it wasn't."

"Why—Sally Preston?" "You mean the Mrs. Rev. Horace Crane," said Perry sternly, with what he considered great propriety of mind.

Was it a single or a sob or an exclamation at the other end? Perry was not sure. But there followed a moment of silence which was an expensive luxury in a long distance conversation. Then, oh, Perry, Perry! My aunt!"

Unfortunately, at that moment occurred one of those breaks in communication which will happen on the most regulated lines. In vain Perry sought for a response. Not even the operator answered.

But Perry was too happy to care. He saw it all now—the aunt for whom Sally was named coming on for a visit, meeting her niece's pastor, and marrying him in spite of her age and witheredness. And, happy thought, her marriage would divert at least a portion of that troublesome legacy into other channels. He was free to ask Sally to marry him!

A week later Perry learned from Sally's lips that his surmises were substantially correct. "Why, why," he reproached her tenderly, "did you stay writing and so give

"Hey, Lucius, look! looking at those pictures in the paper. Get to studying!"

Lucius had had gone to an old-fashioned school when he was a boy. In his school, looking at pictures and studying could never possibly have been the same thing.

But now Lucius replied, "Say, Dad, I am studying. I am picture editor of our blackboard newspaper for tomorrow." He makes a long swish with his newspaper.

Day before yesterday there was an article published here telling how to run a blackboard newspaper of current events in a schoolroom. That article told only about getting the news bulletins. No good editor will stop at that, important as it may be.

A number of years ago Lord Northcliffe, the famous British publisher, decided he would start a woman's newspaper, edited by and for women—that's why he called it the "Mirror." It was a costly failure. The women editors quarreled and drank tea instead of writing. The women readers seemed to prefer papers put out by men editors, anyway. So Lord Northcliffe changed the London Mirror from a woman's newspaper to a picture newspaper. It became a big success, the first great picture news paper published daily.

Take a tip from Lord Northcliffe for your schoolroom daily. Pictures tell stories much more vividly than words. They help wonderfully to make current events interesting.

In the corner of the schoolroom, tack up a piece of cloth about four feet square. This will be the pictorial supplement to the blackboard newspaper. Clip out pictures of the events of the day, the kind of pictures that are shown in the news weeklies in the movies. Pin them up. "The Eighth Grade Daily News," or whatever you may call it, will be better still when it is illustrated.

Good Practice Tips
Written especially for this newspaper by
WALTER STEFFEN

All-American Team, 1908, now Football Coach, Carnegie Tech, Pittsburgh.

Short wind has spoiled many a boy's hope to become a good football player. There are several good ways of improving one's wind. Some coaches prefer to give their men long, hard sprints. A short, fast, forty or fifty-yard run, then a rest and another sprint and a rest and a couple of more runs every day of the season, is better, I believe. If your wind is short, see if there daily sprints won't help build it up. Break the practice the night before a game so you can rest up.

The lack of a dummy with which to practice tackling and charging, needn't be any discouragement to a team. At Carnegie Tech we don't use a dummy. Our men line up and one steps forward about fifty yards and faces the line. He charges at the end man and dives at his knees. The man being tackled must try to dodge to one side or the other or jump up into the air to avoid the tackler's crush. No running back. The man takes turns at being tackled and tackling. We find it gives all the practice necessary in tackling and dodging, and works wonders as a hardener for your muscles.

But the little watch never heard what happened, for just then the door opened and Miss Holmes rushed in.

"Why, it isn't there," she cried. "Oh, yes, there it is. How funny! I'm sure I left it over there."

"Nonsense!" said the teacher, "no one has been in here and the poor little watch couldn't move."

"You make—me tired. You make—me tired," spluttered the big clock.

ONE-REEL YARNS

CONFESSIONS OF A CLOCK
The door of the study room slammed and Miss Holmes hurried down the hall to the teacher's meeting, five minutes late.

"Oh, dear," sighed a tiny voice, "here she has forgotten me again."

"What's that?" demanded the study-room clock. "Do I hear the voice of a watch? It has been so long since I have talked to anyone with real wheels for brains, that I can't believe it. Come closer so I can look you in the face."

"Do you hang there on the wall all day?" asked the little watch. "Isn't it terribly dull? I ride around on Miss Holmes' wrist and have a good time."

"Oh, it's not so dull as you might think," replied the old clock with a shrug of its pendulum. "But I do get tired of having no one to talk to. Aren't people the dumbest things? When we talk to them they think we are saying 'tick tick' as though any right-minded clock would sit and 'tick tick' over and over to itself all day."

"Today I got so provoked at Miss Holmes when she paid no attention to what I said, that I spluttered. 'You make—me tired, you make—me tired.'"

"I heard you," laughed the little watch, "and I said 'Me, too—me, too,' but you didn't hear me."

"No. No, it's not so dull as you might think," continued the clock. "Sometimes I have thrilling experiences. Why, last night after you and Miss Holmes left, a terrible man, called a janitor, came in with an awful looking weapon and whipped the floor. Then, with a mumbled threat, he started toward me, waving a white rag in the air. My wheels trembled and my pendulum swayed. Then—"

But the little watch never heard what happened, for just then the door opened and Miss Holmes rushed in.

A Story For Speakers

The life of an attorney isn't always pleasant. The other day I was cross-examining a witness and, as usual, he didn't seem to know anything. He was called to testify in a suit as to the number of cubic yards that were handled in some filling near his place. He showed very little knowledge of the matter, and his idea of a cubic yard was so indefinite that he did not know what the term meant. In order to see for sure, I said:

"Listen, witness! Let us assume this inkstand to be three feet across the top this way and three feet across this way, and three feet high. What would call it?"

"Well," he said, "I would say it was some inkstand."

LAND MADE AT LITTLE COST

As an example of what might be done in the way of reclaiming land at Cate Cosshard, at the same time abolishing a mosquito breeding nuisance, the Public Health Service quotes the experience of the town of Millen, Ga. A twenty-acre swamp was the subject of the experiment. The operation consisted of diking with dynamite, a trench 1,500 feet long being blown with sticks of the explosive placed in holes two feet deep at intervals averaging one foot. Extra charges were used for stumps. The resulting ditch averaged a width of seven and a half feet at the top and a depth of three and a half feet. Total cost, including labor and 1,000 pounds of dynamite, was $270. When the job was finished there was a freely running stream through the ditch.

By this simple and rapid means the swamp was transformed into twenty acres of good land.

THE UNSOLVED RIDDLE

Doctors and scientists know many things about vitamins, but when you ask them exactly what they are, they are stumped. The other ingredients which go to make up our food have been analyzed, isolated and what not. But vitamins, the most essential factor of all, beat the scientists utterly.

Green vegetables and certain fats are the chief containers of vitamins in our ordinary diet. That is why blue-juice is always issued to sailors on board ship and to troops in foreign stations, when fresh vegetables are not available.

Vitamins are essential for the prevention of scurvy, beri-beri, rickets and many other diseases; they are, indeed, the essential, life-giving property in our food.

But so far they have proved an unsolved riddle to our doctors and scientists.

U. S. TO AID STATE IN DRIVE TO SMASH PRICE COMBINES

Federal Department to Co-operate With Badger Officials Announces Morgan

GOVERNMENT INVESTIGATORS TO BE SENT TO WISCONSIN

Arrangements also Made for Co-operation of Neighbor States

MADISON, Wis.—The federal department of justice will co-operate with state officials in an attempt to break up Wisconsin price fixing combinations and combinations in restraint of trade, operating within this state, William J. Morgan, attorney general, announced Wednesday on his return from conference with Harry M. Daugherty, United States attorney general.

The co-operation of the two departments was undertaken on suggestion of Mr. Daugherty who visited Attorney General Morgan to visit Washington, and discuss the Wisconsin situation. It is expected that federal investigators will be sent into the field here.

Arrangements have been made for an exchange of evidence between the federal and state departments. Mr. Morgan declared, with the state turning over all evidence of combinations extending between states, and the federal agents giving the state evidence of combinations existing within Wisconsin.

Arrangements have also been made with the attorney general's department of surrounding states for co-operation in the move against illegal price fixing combinations. Mr. Morgan said.

The recent legislature strengthened the state anti-trust law, giving the attorney general 10,000 for enforcement, and broadening scope of the statute.

ACTION IS DEFERRED IN CASE OF ALLEGED CHICKEN THIEVES

No Disposition Made of Cases of Ira Champlin and George Grover Here

Questioned concerning the disposition of the cases of Ira Champlin and George Grover, arrested a week ago on the charge of stealing chickens from the coop of Fred L. Smith, 1617 Hayes street, police officials Wednesday declared the men were released from imprisonment subject to call on the order of L. T. Reid, district attorney.

In a recent statement, Mr. Smith stated that eleven chickens were taken from the coop instead of four as reported by the police at the time of the arrest of the two men. Penland and Rodde, 2000 Prospect street, also reports that five chickens were taken from his coop on the same evening as those of F. L. Smith. Smith declared that he followed the tracks of the men after discovering that the chickens were missing and called the police to make the arrests.

Police headquarters Wednesday said that the district attorney had ordered the men released subject to call when the case would be heard.

Twenty Minnesota licenses have been issued to small game hunters. These also may be obtained at the office of the county clerk. M. A. Dieckisch obtained the first Minnesota license on August 31.

SENATORS DECIDE TO KEEP RAILWAY TAXES FOR THE YEAR 1922

Tax on Freight, Passenger and Pullman Rates to be Cut One-half

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Retention for the calendar year 1922 of the transportation taxes on freight, passenger and Pullman accommodations, but at one half the present rate, was agreed upon Wednesday by the senate finance committee. The committee also voted finally to amend the provision of the house bill so as to retain the full tax on express packages and oil transported by pipe line.

The house rules on cereal beverages and other soft drinks were adopted but it was explained that some of these might be subject to change. The committee passed over the inheritance tax and decided to take up at a later session today suits taxes on candy, jewelry, furs, sporting goods and a number of other items.

CURRAN TO OPPOSE HYLAN FOR MAYOR OF NEW YORK CITY

Coalition Candidate Polls More Votes than all Three Opponents Combined

NEW YORK.—H. W. H. Curran, coalition-republican now president of the borough of Manhattan, will be Mayor J. P. Hyland's opponent at the polls next November.

Curran won the republican nomination in the primary Tuesday, polling 31,814 more votes than the combined vote of his three rivals. His total vote was 103,174, while F. H. Laguardia, president of the board of aldermen, his nearest opponent, polled 37,880. Judge R. L. Baskell, who advocated a referendum on prohibition, got 29,468 and former State Senator W. M. Bennett was last with 4,742.

While the republican campaign produced some verbal thrills, it remained for the democrats to furnish the real excitement of the day.

James J. Hines, candidate for the democratic nomination for president of the borough of Manhattan, was defeated by Julius Miller.

MANY EMPLOYERS TO HAVE TRUCKS IN FAIR PARADE

Keen Interest Evinced in Making La Crosse Day Biggest Day of the Fair

Interest is growing apace in the plans to make Tuesday, La Crosse day, the biggest day of the Interstate fair next week.

Harry O. Williams, in charge of the parade, announced today that the number of firms agreeing to have trucks or cars in the procession to accommodate employees, next Tuesday afternoon, is most gratifying. The turnout of auto vehicles promises to be large.

Plans were formulated today to assure a large turnout of fraternal and social organizations in the parade. It is the desire of the committee to have several thousand marchers in the line. Every person participating in the parade will be furnished with a card admitting the holder to the fair grounds Tuesday free of charge.

Two bands will furnish music for the parade, which will start from a designated point down town at 1:30 and proceed directly to the fair grounds.

leged attack. The second is manslaughter, which was returned as a true bill by the grand jury Tuesday night and which will become a formal indictment when it is filed in court Thursday. The authorities are discussing the charge on which they will bring the actor to trial. District Attorney Brady is of the opinion that the murder charge should stand. If Arbuckle is cleared of that charge in the event that he is tried on it, he must still face the manslaughter charge.

Resume Inquest

The coroner's inquest which started Monday, was resumed Wednesday with Miss Voh Provest and Alice Blake, show girls, scheduled as witnesses. They attested in statements to the authorities and to the grand jury that they were present at the Labor day party in the St. Francis hotel in which Miss Rappie is alleged to have received the injuries that resulted in her death four days later.

The women's vigilance committee, formed to assist the moral forces of the city in maintaining the honor of the courts and of the administrative bodies, is expected at its regular meeting Wednesday to take up the Arbuckle matter and determine the stand it will take.

Arbuckle Cast Down

Arbuckle received news of his indictment in the city prison early Wednesday. He said nothing and appeared unmoved. Newspapers who attempted to interview him noted that his face was more pallid than usual and that an air of dejection seemed to have become fixed on him. He went on for his breakfast, keeping his items a secret.

Dr. Mariano Bertola, president of the women's vigilance committee, said that she expected that the committee at its meeting Wednesday would adopt resolutions pledging every possible assistance to the authorities in clearing up the Arbuckle case.

Ex-Wife Speeds to Arbuckle

NEW YORK.—Mrs. Roscoe Arbuckle, who was known professionally as Minta Durfee, left New York Wednesday for San Francisco to help her husband if possible, although she has been separated from him for five years.

"I am going to him because I think it is my duty to be near him," she said. "I want to help him in every way I can. I don't know just how I can be of service to him, but many things will turn up that I can do."

"When we were married I was 17 and he 21. That was back in 1908. Five years ago we agreed to disengage, and I received a separate maintenance. Unfortunately—or perhaps fortunately, as you please—there are no children. We were not bitter against each other. We simply decided that we would remain good friends."

Husband was Generous
"Mr. Arbuckle has been very generous in his treatment of me in regard to finances. I have not had to work during these years, and last February he made me a present of a fine automobile."

A reconciliation? That depends on whether I find that my place is with him and whether he finds that he is ready for a return to the life we had when we were married now I was his inspiration. All I know now is that I am going to a friend who needs every bit of my help he can get."

Mrs. Arbuckle was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Fann Burbee, of Los Angeles.

BENEFIT BALL GAME TO BE PLAYED BY KIWANIS-ROTARY

Proceeds of Attraction at Copeland Park Friday to be Donated to Children's Clinic

An athletic contest looked upon with great interest is the baseball game between the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs to be played at Copeland park Friday evening at 7:30, proceeds of which will be donated to the children's clinic fund.

Intense rivalry is apparent among players of both aggregations and that the contest will be a real entertainment goes without saying. There will doubtless be revealed during the game many former stars of the national pastime whose abilities as baseball players have been lying dormant for want of opportunities of this kind. In any event, the game is certain to furnish amusement for hundreds of followers and enthusiasts supporting each club.

Proceeds of the affair will be donated to the children's clinic fund. An admission price of thirty-five cents will be charged spectators in the Copeland park grand stand.

ORGANIC CHEMICAL INDUSTRY IS GREAT CONCERN IN NATION

Big New Industry Started as Result of the War Discussed Before Kiwanis Club

The organic chemical industry of the United States was discussed by Prof. W. H. Hunter in an address to the Kiwanis club Tuesday noon. He said in part:

"Germany put an embargo on dyes during the war. Nothing happened, because American capitalists knew very well that if the war were a short war, immediately after the war Germany would flood the country with dyes. As soon as it became clear that the war would be a long one and that Germany would not capture Paris in three months, a great many things started."

"In the first place, the Duponts with all their trained chemists started as did another company the National Aniline Co. Now unfortunately a great many 'Fly By Night' concerns started up without any well trained workmen. Not only is the chemist important—the workmen must be specially trained. These unreliable people put out dyes and demanded a big price. The dyes were not up to standard, they did not know how to make them, but they sold at the same price as high grade dyes."

"The present industry grew up under the protection of the license system with the war then prevailing. But it is now in a weak condition since no one knows when the license system will be withdrawn."

"There are millions of dollars, many thousands workmen and many chemists now, yet only 25 percent of the chemists engaged two years ago, for the reason of the unsatisfactory situation in regard to the tariff. Some of the companies have cut out their research, cut down the number of workmen, shut down in some instances, for they do not know where they are at. They do not want to throw good money after bad."

"The tariff bill when it started in the house included an embargo on dyes. With the running start we got during the war we thought these firms could then make headway. But there is no protection for the Organic Chemical industry of the United States with the bill as passed in the house. The senate is again having a committee meeting in regard to the situation, trying to decide what ought to be done about the Organic Chemical industry. We are exactly where we were two years ago."

CHURCH DRAMA IS EVENT GIVEN BY LOCAL BAPTISTS

Twenty-two Members of the Church to Present "Ruth the Loving", Sunday Evening

The drama of "Ruth the Loving" is to be given by 22 of the members of the First Baptist Church at the church on Sunday Evening, Sept. 25th. This drama has for its setting the Book of Ruth, which is one of the most entrancing and romantic love stories of the Bible. The drama has been arranged by Rev. C. A. Boyd, who is the director of the Sunday School. The drama is a story of a young girl who is orphaned and who is taken in by a kind-hearted man who is a member of the church. The drama is a story of love, loyalty, and sacrifice.

Everywhere the drama has been given, the churches have been filled to overflowing. When it was given for the first time in this state by the Baptist young people of Fond du Lac the former parish of Rev. W. S. Stuebel, the church was filled to overflowing so that it had to be repeated. When it was given again on the following Sunday night the church was again crowded. Since then the drama has been given in Oshkosh, Milwaukee, and many other places; and everywhere that it has been produced the churches have been crowded.

As far as it is possible, the message of the Bible story in its setting will be given by the young people here. The platform will be arranged at first to look like an oriental house, then as the scene changes like the field of Boaz, and finally like the city gate. Those who take part will be dressed as the people of that day with the turbans, loose garments, girdles, and sandals. The whole drama will be made so that people will have this beautiful story made vivid to them.

Everyone is invited to attend this service, inasmuch as nothing of this nature has ever been given here it is certain that the church will be crowded.

PARDON ASKED FOR "DOGSKIN" JOHNSON

Confession was Obtained by Intimidation Claims Attorney

MADISON, Wis.—The application for pardon of John A. (Dogskin) Johnson, serving a life sentence for the murder of seven-year-old Annie Lemberger, on September 5, 1911, was heard by Governor Hildne Wednesday afternoon. No decision of the governor on the case was announced.

Consideration of the Johnson case brought out the details of a crime which is said to have shocked Wisconsin when it was committed and at the time almost resulted in the lynching of Johnson, according to expression in the pardon application.

Claim was made by his attorney that Johnson was intimidated into making a confession, which, it is argued, is the only lawful basis for the murder charge on which he was convicted. Johnson in a letter to the governor, says that he "told the big, god he ever told on God's earth" when he confessed to the murder of the girl.

It was declared before the governor that police officers had caused a mob to create a disturbance that would make it appear that they were storming the jail, in order to bring a confession from Johnson, who is said to be mentally unbalanced. The plea for pardon is based on the contention that Johnson was intimidated into confessing a crime of which he is not guilty.

It is Nelson, district attorney who presented the case, in a letter maintained that Johnson was guilty beyond doubt, and that his conviction followed a confession made without duress, and maintained by the prisoner despite efforts to have him retract it.

The theory that the world is cooling off will soon be proven.

ART TAUSCHE CUTS HOLE IN AUTO TOP TO ESCAPE WRECK

Car Runs off Road into Trempealeau River; Driver Escapes from Drowning

Art Tausche, salesman for the T. Tausche Hardware company, had a narrow escape from drowning in the Trempealeau river several days ago, when his automobile ran off the road, according to reports received in La Crosse. Tausche was driving between Centerville and Marshland on the road that skirts the Trempealeau river. The car plunged off the road and into the river. Tausche, to free himself from the car and escape possible death by drowning, was forced to cut a hole through the top of the auto and crawl out. Later the car was hauled back to the road.

MADRID CITIZENS TAKING STEPS TO CURB PROFITEERS

MADRID.—Citizens of Madrid have formed an association to take action against profiteers. The municipality recently fixed prices of necessities of life, whereupon bakers, grocers and fruit merchants threatened to join butchers in refusing to meet the prices laid down by the city but the governor has issued a note announcing he will take measures to enforce city regulations and even send offenders to prison.

There was an attempted demonstration against profiteers following accusations made Tuesday but the police prevented the procession from passing the grocers and arrested several of the noisiest members of the crowd.

A Few Of the Slightly-Used and Used Pianos

OUR DISPLAY of slightly-used and second hand pianos has been assembled in three great groups so that without inconvenience you may see and test side by side the pianos shown. The offerings are truly remarkable. They have all been overhauled and are guaranteed to be in correct playing condition. Many give no evidence whatsoever of having been used. For all practical purposes they serve as finely as new and more expensive pianos.

DOERFLINGER SHOWS FALL DRESS STYLES IN AN ARTISTIC WAY

Windows Display Latest Fashions; Night Lighting Effect Makes Brilliant Scene

Bathed in floods of soft lights, fall styles displayed in the show windows of the William Doerflinger company this week are attracting much attention from the throngs of evening window shoppers who promenade Main street. The latest in ready-to-wear party gowns, afternoon gowns, wraps and accessories such as hats, gloves, hosiery and jewelry are being displayed. Excellent taste was shown in the arrangement of the window displays and in the lighting effects.

The first window on Main street is devoted to evening silks and satins, malines and opalescent trimmings. The color scheme of the window decoration is green gold and a touch of blue. The background also has a semi-perfect effect and represents a room. In the center is a mahogany stand, draped with lavender silk cloth. There are two models stepping through doorways into the "room," with floodlights shedding their full-toned lights upon the fine silk creations in which they are clothed.

In the suit window there are four different styles of suits and many accessories, such as shoes, umbrellas, gloves. The same background idea is carried out in this window as in the silk window. There are tall wicker vases filled with flowers and fall foliage. Light green lights in the foreground have a soft effect on the display. In other windows are displays of boys' and men's clothing and furnishings.

LOST LITERARY TREASURE

An earnest search is being made to recover the Book of Gospels which was the most cherished treasure of the Cathedral of Rheims. The book disappeared with the German army after the battle of the Marne.

Princess Anna of Russia, the Slav consort of Henry I, brought it into France in the eleventh century, and thereafter every ruler of France used it at Rheims when he made his vow to safeguard the rights and privileges of the Roman Catholic church. King Charles X, the last French king crowned at Rheims, kissed the sacred volume in sealing his coronation oath in 1825. Peter the Great of Russia journeyed to Rheims to see it, and received it while kneeling and pressed it to his lips and breast. It survived the French wars of a thousand years; it was hidden away during the French revolution; it reappeared with the Bourbon restoration in 1815. The book was written in the Bulgarian language and was miraculously bound with golden coverings set with precious stones. Throughout eastern Europe it was held in the greatest veneration for it was the most ancient Slav copy of the gospels.

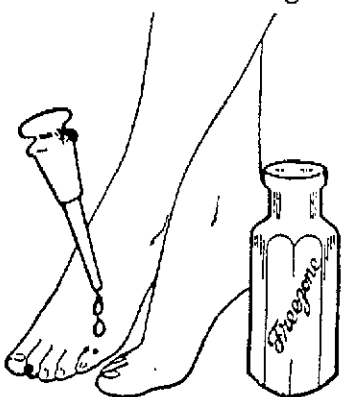

DISK WHEELS OF WOOD

Wheels with laminated wood disks are now manufactured for all types of motor vehicles. The disks are built up of thin, rotary-cut piles of wood, glued together under pressure with waterproof glue. The grain of each layer runs in a different direction from that of the layer next to it. This process of lamination is said to make the complete disk very strong, non-wearable and resilient. The weight of these wheels is substantially the same as that of a spoked wood wheel, but the resistance to transverse shocks is said to be much greater. In order to prevent inflation of the pneumatic tire convenient, a patented angle connection is furnished, which goes on the tire valve stem and permits the tire to be inflated from the outside face of the wheel. The design of the wheel is such that the disk can readily be fitted to any standard hub and rim. These wheels are said to be stronger than the conventional wood spoke wheel of equal weight.

SORTING MAIL TO MUSIC CUTS DOWN ERRORS OF CLERKS

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—Stimulated by phonograph music, night clerks at the Minneapolis postoffice have increased their speed and accuracy. Postmaster Purdy announced at the conclusion of tests covering a month's period.

"We have found that the nightly concerts of classical and popular records have abolished worry during the graveyard shift from 7 p. m. to 3 a. m.," Mr. Purdy said. "Heretofore the morale of employees has been depressed by the deadly quiet. With the phonograph going, the men have speeded up their work and cut down the percentage of errors."

Ultimate Literature
Criticism is the youngest of all the literary forms. It will perhaps end by absorbing all the others. It is admirably suited to a very civilized society with rich memories and long traditions. It is particularly appropriate to a serious, learned and polite humanity. For its prosperity it demands more culture than any of the other literary forms.—Anatole France.

OCONOMOWOC MAN NAMED BY BLAINE TO STATE BOARD

MADISON.—James A. Pencock of Oconomowoc was appointed Wednesday by Governor Blaine to fill the balance of the term of C. W. Frazer, as a member of the civil service commission. The term expires on June 21, 1922.

Mr. Frazer was appointed September 1, 1919, but his interim appointment was not confirmed by the senate, the governor says in explaining the appointment.

The civil service commission members serve for six years, and at a nominal per diem salary. Most of the work of the commission is done by a secretary.

PRISONER KILLED IN ATTEMPTED JAILBREAK

JOLIET, Ill.—Thomas Schiller, a convict at the penitentiary, was killed Wednesday morning in attempted jail-break. Six convicts escaped. Three were recaptured. Schiller was shot by a guard as he jumped from the wall after the six and left the penitentiary through a hole in the roof.

The convicts who escaped were Edward Thorpe and Carl Stepien, the latter said to be a well-known Chicago gun man. Stepien filed the locks of his cell door and then released the other two by picking the lock on their cells. The trio then cut a hole in the roof.

Stepeina was reported to have escaped on a passing freight train.

MADISON, Wis.—The state library commission will hold its first meeting since the death of Dr. Charles McCarthy, director of the legislative reference library, on Friday, according to announcement of C. B. Lester, secretary. At that time it is thought that consideration will be given to the names of possible successors to Dr. McCarthy.

A list of applications have been filed with the commission, and several names are being considered, chief among them those of Glen Turner of Madison, Louis Weble of Washington, D. C., and W. W. Duffus, University of Missouri. It may be that E. A. Fitzpatrick, secretary of the state board of education, and close friend of Dr. McCarthy will be named. The position carries a salary of $5,000.

HIBBING SLAYER TAKES LIFE WHEN BROUGHT TO BAY

Man Who Shot Three Police Officers Suicides When Surrounded by Posse

HIBBING, Minn.—John Webb, who shot and killed three members of the Hibbing police force last Thursday, shot and killed himself at 7:45 a. m. Wednesday in a shack one mile east of Hibbing when surrounded by a police posse.

Search for Webb had been prosecuted without pause since he shot Chief of Police Daniel Hayes, Detective Gene Cassidy and Patrolman William Kohrt when they went to arrest him on a warrant charging a statutory offense against his young daughter.

Early in the day several Hibbing policemen came on the log cabin east of here and concluding Webb might be secreted within, approached cautiously from all sides. They saw some one moving about within as they got nearer and when they were about 200 feet from the cabin, Webb peered at them through a window.

When Webb saw the policemen he stepped back from the window and blew his head off with the same 30-30 rifle that he had used in slaying the three policemen.

Arrangements immediately were made for return of the body to Hibbing.

THE DANCE OF THE BIRDS

Many of the bird tribes take part in a dance, primarily in the courtship of the female. The biggest bird of all—the ostrich—is a most indefatigable dancer, particularly enjoying the waltz. Among the marvelous paradise birds of New Guinea the special object of the dance is to display the fabulous beauty of the male. The bird places itself upon the dry top of an old tree—often many of them at the same time—and utters peculiar quacking sounds, while at the same time opening and shutting the splendidly colored tufts of feathers at his sides and erecting the long and waving ornamental feathers until they look like a comb. Among the relatives of the paradise bird are the bower birds found in Australia and New Guinea, which are remarkable in that they erect real dance bowers of leaves and seem to attach great importance to the decoration of these places. The moorcock is another dancing bird from which the peasants of upper Bavaria have borrowed their famous "flat shoe dance," or clog dancing.

BIG TEN FOOTBALL SQUADS IN FIRST APPEARANCE THURSDAY

RICHARDS LINES UP AVAILABLE MEN FOR COMING SEASON

Student Body at Madison Planning for Championship Team this Fall

WALLACE BARR DECLARED INELIGIBLE FOR BERTH

Bunge to Start Third Year in Pivot Position

MADISON, Wis.—The Badger football squad makes its first appearance of the year for practice Thursday, when Coach Richards will line up his available material and determine the prospects for the coming season, the biggest in the history of the Western Conference, according to general opinion.

Wisconsin's coach and the players say they are not counting too highly this year, because of a shortage of material, but the student body, now returning, is planning for a championship team after its second place record of last season. Ineligibility has added to cut down the squad which will still present formidable proportions.

On the Camp Randall field Thursday, when all the Big Ten teams open their practice, there will be 15 experienced Wisconsin men, including two strong backfields, but lacking in line of outstanding quality.

Captain Guy Staudt of Stouten, will lead the squad. He is a full-back of two years experience. With him in the backfield will be Roland Williams of Edgerton, star of last season; Alvin C. Elliott of Muskegon, a strong defensive player for two years; and E. H. Gibson of Madison, a substitute of last year who won his "W."

Barr Ineligible

Wallace Barr, regular quarterback for two seasons, will be ineligible on account of studies, according to reports yesterday. That will leave the team without an experienced pilot. Ralph Gill of Madison, a freshman last year, is counted on for the position, with no one yet named as a possible substitute.

The search for an end to fill the place left vacant by Captain Frank Weston of last year, has brought out little experienced material.

Gustav Tobell of Plymouth, will be on the field tomorrow to start running in shape to fill his regular position at end, and will have Gordon E. Nelson of Superior and E. A. Carlson of Madison here to try for the other position. It may be that other players will be developed by the coach for the wing places.

Tackles are another problem for the Badgers, critics say. Raymond Leona of Algona, a 230 pound freshman player of two years ago is back and will be with the squad tomorrow. He may fill one place, with Hans Gude of Christiana, Norway, a possible selection in the other position. There are no substitutes out at present.

James Brader will be serving his third year at guard. He will be on the field tomorrow together with Roman Brummett, another likely guard, who played center on the S. A. T. C. team and is again back in school. At center George Bunge will start his third year. He is here ready for practice.

Coach Richards expresses it as his opinion that Wisconsin will have a strong team, but is not making claim for a conference championship.

FORTY CANDIDATES ANSWER FIRST CALL FOR GRIDIRON MATERIAL AT LOCAL NORMAL

Seven Letter Men Seen Among Candidates for Berths; Newcomers on Squad are Husky Lot

About forty candidates answered the first call for football issued by Coach Keeler of the La Crosse normal school Tuesday afternoon. Little was done in the way of actual work, Keeler satisfying himself with dividing the men up into groups of five men, backfield men and ends, and letting them pass the ball around for a short time. He dismissed them after a short talk in which he explained the training rules and gave a brief outline of what is expected from the players during the season. There were seven men who won letters in football last year out for the initial practice. They were Captain Jim Kevin, guard; McCormick, end and quarterback; Ellinger and Royal, halfbacks; Lewis, Jones and Warrick, tackles. Besides these there were several from last year's second team. Little is known of the ability of the newcomers, but they are a husky lot and promise to develop rapidly into first class material.

The squad will undoubtedly be larger in a few days. At the time of the first meeting many students who had intended to be present were still in the line waiting to register. The new coaching course which has been added to the curriculum of the physical education department will require the presence on the gridiron of every man who is enrolled in the physical education department. This provision will swell the ranks of the aspirants for football honors, and will no doubt result in bringing out good material which would otherwise have been overlooked.

Suits and equipment will be issued at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and the first workout will be held at three o'clock at Normal field.

It was Chicago's thirteenth victory over New York this season and Kerr's sixth victory over the Yankees in seven games. Hooper's batting featured, as he hit two home runs and a single, drew two bases on balls and scored four runs.

ELKS OPEN BOWLING SEASON ON TUESDAY AT LOTUS ALLEYS

Eight Teams Roll Games in First Evening's Play in Elks' Bowling League

The first games of the Elks' bowling schedule were rolled at the Lotus alleys Tuesday evening and in spite of the layoff during the summer, several members of the teams came back with the old form and rolled comparatively good scores.

The Elks, as well as the city leagues, have adopted a new system this season, each team consisting of but four men. Bowling nights are Tuesday and Thursday, two sets being rolled each evening at 7 and 9 o'clock respectively.

That captured the honors of rolling the highest single score on the first official bowling occasion this season, counting 236.

The Anchor and Spares scored three game victories over their opponents, the Bedmakers and Strikers Tuesday evening, while the Knockouts and Pickups won two out of three over the Backhorns and Soft Spots.

HIGH SCHOOL GRID MATERIAL AT WORK UNDER NEW COACH

Forty-four Men Report to Coach Keogan as Gridiron Call is Sounded

LETTER MATERIAL IS WRECKED BY GRADUATION Line to be Unusually Heavy this Season

Forty-four of the original squad of nearly one hundred last year remain and are out fighting for positions on the La Crosse high school football team under the direction of the new athletic coach, George Keogan, recently of Yakaprisa.

Coach Keogan has had the men out familiarizing them all in preparation for the season's work and in spite of the fact that letter material at the school was wrecked by graduation last year, the new mentor has a list of stocky and capable men out for the team. While the material was declared to be somewhat unfamiliar, Coach Keogan is determined to whip out an average representative eleven.

What is to be expected of the high school eleven this year will not come to light for several weeks due to the fact that a complete shakeup must be made and the most capable men for the various positions uncovered. The trial squad this year is unusually heavy.

Eleven men were picked Tuesday and went through the formations, though no signals have been introduced as yet. The lineup was "Tide" Weigert, quarterback; Joe Abraham and Tom Maloney, halves and Lloyd Baseman full back. The center position in the line is filled by Fred Hanson, and the rest of the forward wall is made up of Wheaton and Tobias guards, Dunham and Taseover, tackles, and Holley and Jiribum, ends. Leonard Kilian, an L. C. man of last year, and John Ash will probably be given a chance within the next few days. No scrimmage has been started so far, but lacking the dummy, falling on the ball and other methods of lumbering up will be in order soon.

HERE'S ONE-MAN INFIELD

JOHNNY KILLEHER Deal was injured and they put him at third.

Then Killeher went out and that put Killeher back at short.

Later his chance for second came and he held that as gracefully as short and third.

It was when Grimes got in the way of a pitched ball that Johnny completed the route, holding down the infield sack, convincing the Cubs that they had one of the best all-around players in the league today. And he's counting 349.

He came to the Cubs as a shortstop, but being unable to find an empty room, hung around.

Johnny can pull up the easy chair to any bag on the infield and feel at home.

In The MOVIES

AT THE THEATERS TODAY
Rivoli—Marion Davies in "Buried Treasure"; Soren Sorenson in "The Circus Girl"; Constance Binney in "The Circus Girl"; "The Circus Girl" comedy.
Majestic—V. O. Divers' Playmates in "Unsettled Weather"; Jack Pickford in "Just Out of College"; Constance Binney in "The Circus Girl"; "The Circus Girl" comedy.
Casino—Viola Dana in "Home Stuff"; "Home Stuff" comedy.
Strand—Mary Miles Minter in "Her Winning Way"; "Her Winning Way" comedy.

MARY MILES MINTER—STRAND
 Joseph Henabery, who directed "Her Winning Way," the Reelart comedy starring Mary Miles Minter, at the Strand today and Thursday is one of the most capable directors in the field of light comedy.
 Assisting Mr. Henabery was Richard L. Johnston, Mr. Johnston is a graduate of one of the California universities, and came to the picture field intending to learn it from the "bottom up." Exposed to the camera, has proved himself an artist in the "effects." Another comedy, "On Account," also is on the same program. Peggy Jean, a smiling child of three years is one of the leading lights of the picture. She is just about the cutest little screen star seen in a long time.

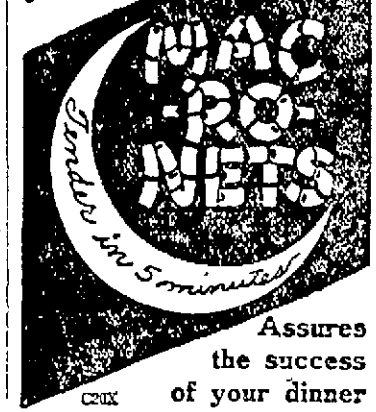

VIOLA DANA—CASINO
 "What we want is a genuine runaway team of farm horses," said Director Al Kelley while filming Viola Dana's latest Metro special, "Home Stuff," at the west coast studios of the company in Hollywood, Cal. "This is the picture the Casino will show today and Thursday. And the trouble is, that was what he got. A team of horses, attached to a hay wagon in which Viola Dana was perched, was induced to run away so effectively that they all but lost the star, director and cameraman. As it was, Viola, her director and John Arnold her cameraman, nursed bruises that are not ordinarily acquired in an even more serious bolt of horses. The plot for "Home Stuff," which is a Frank Bussey-Agnes Johnston story, calls for a realistic runaway. Tom Gallery, who is playing the leading male role in the picture, had been instructed to drop the reins on seeing Viola—a thing that his city breeding and ignorance of horses generally made very easy.
"BURIED TREASURE"—RIVOLI
 Jewels a thousand years old and valued at some twenty thousand dollars, figure in "Buried Treasure."

starring Marion Davies, which is closing its run at the Rivoli Theater tonight. The new picture, from a story by P. Britten Austin, has been called a "sugar-coated study in heredity." Much of the action is Spanish, and while seeking Spanish jewelry, Miss Davies became enamored of Soren Sorenson and his settings. Her search took her back to the ruins of the Crusades, and curiously she found a massive, cunningly wrought necklace with sapphires inlaid, formed like a Maltese cross, but of undoubted Moorish workmanship. This necklace the star wears in "Buried Treasure."
 Among other pieces procured by Miss Davies to wear in this production are a locket in Dinty Ford, alleged by experts to have been among the booty taken from the Cathedral at Toledo, Spain, in 1830; and an auralcure, or little finger ring, marvelously worked on the inner side.

"THE MAGIC CUP"—MAJESTIC
 A modern little city Cinderella is the heroine of "The Magic Cup," Constance Binney's latest release which is showing at the Majestic the last time tonight. The Prince Charming in the case is a cub reporter, and they meet, not at a ball, as in the old fairy story, but in the automatic atmosphere of a hotel kitchen. The male lead opposite Miss Binney is played by Vincent Coleman. There are also two clever vaudeville acts on the bill.

GRACE LUSK CASE IS SCHEDULED FOR HEARING WEDNESDAY

MADISON, Wis.—Conditional pardon was granted Charles E. Gabel of Wood County, serving two years for burglary, Wednesday by Governor Blaine. Gabel must return to his farm and conduct himself as a useful citizen if he is to remain free, the governor stipulates.

The sentence of Rao Vermillion was committed to 14 months in order that the pardon board might extend her clemency. The governor said that he did not feel that he should grant a full pardon under the circumstances presented to him in the hearing.

Nearly half of the 36 cases before him were disposed of by the governor on Tuesday, with the remaining number to come up today.

Grace Lusk will have her case heard as the first one considered following the noon hour, according to the schedule.

MR. ZERO PLANNING AUCTION OF JOBLESS MEN IN NEW YORK

Will Extend Boston Activities to New York City Announces Auctioneer

NEW YORK.—Urban Ledoux, also known as "Mr. Zero," who auctioned off jobless men on Boston Common, said Tuesday he would hold a similar auction next Monday near the New York public library, after a parade of the unemployed up Broadway. He said that not only would he put jobless men on the block, strip them to the waist and sell their services to the highest bidder, but that he also would auction off the services of any unemployed woman who might appear.

Asked if his methods with women would be the same as with men, he said:

"Why, certainly, if necessary," and called attention to the modes of dress of women in Broadway musical comedies and on Fifth avenue.

"Mr. Zero" will lead the parade under an old umbrella which he has decorated with hearts and embellished with his motto "Lift up your hearts." He will provide the hungry with coffee and doughnuts before putting them on the auction block.

He said the officials of an old time New York Episcopal church—St. Mark's-in-the-Bowery—had turned over its chapel on the east side to him, and that he would provide shelter and food there for the hungry and homeless until they could get jobs.

Up-to-Date Economy

One little economy which all stenographers can practice is to chew their gum on both sides.

"UNSETTLED WEATHER" IS NEW MUSICAL SHOW AT THE RIVIERA TODAY

"Unsettled Weather," a new musical comedy, will be presented today and Thursday by V. O. Diver's Theatre musical comedy company at the Riviera. The scene of the plot is laid in New York. The action is fast and furious, a witty program of songs being one of the offerings. More beautiful costumes will be worn by the pretty chorus and an elaborate stage setting will be used.

In the plot Billy Castleton a home-loving goof of a husband, has for a wife a feverish butterfly type of woman while Harry Ferguson, the good-time loving husband, has the home-loving sort of a wife, Jack Lewis, a man about town, takes Laura, the wife of Billy, to a cabaret and while they are absent Billy and Laura compare notes and discover that their better halves are enjoying themselves at cabarets they stage a little party to seek revenge. The party was a decided success and when Laura and Jack return they discover them in a highly intoxicated condition.
